Remony

In 1783 from the banks of Loch Tay on a small farm called Remony, Alexander MacNaughton had an idea that would transform his life and the local community. By working with the local wool farmers and spinning their own products, he was able to create quality wool blankets and fabrics that wERE second to none. A proud tradition that we still continue two centuries later.

The MAC.N scarf range by Macnaughton takes a new and fresh look at traditional Scottish tartan scarves. We created a vibrant, modern colour palette for fashion-conscious consumer and gave it a visual identity to match.

Our scarves are woven in Scotland using a unique 2-ply merino lambswool yarn for a loftier feel, which adds warmth and comfort, while creating a chunky, up-to-date look.

Generously sized at 200 x 30cm, they allow you to wrap up and wear your scarf however you like to.
